REDS LUNGE IN DIRECTION OF NAZI BASE

Enemy Cleared From East Shore of Lake Peipus in Five-Day Drive of Russians

10 VILLAGES ARE TAKEN

London, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Red Army rolled on today toward the big base of Kov, serving remaining Nazi troops in northwestern Russia, after clearing the Germans from all the east shore of Lake Peipus in a five-day drive which swept up 800 miles, including the rail line of Luga.

The latest victories brought 12,000 square miles the point of territory the Russians have reconquered since they launched their Leninist offensive just a month ago. They have now reached a point 150 miles southwest of Leningrad.

Lunging down from captured Ostrovsky, southernmost point on the Peipus, advance Russian forces were less than 47 miles from Kov, the gateway to southern Russia and Latvia.

Ar to the south, meanwhile, the Germans continued to wipe out the remnants of the 10 Nazi divisions in four miles of Korsun, which the Germans have made the core of their resistance.

Trailing masses of infantry and armor against the outer rim of the ring at a point west of Korsun, the Germans repeatedly were driven back as they attempted to break out a corridor through which the trapped Nazis might escape. A Soviet communiqué said night.

On night and day fierce battles raged, said the bulletin. "One unit repulsed seven enemy attacks. The approaches to the positions were covered with bodies of German officers and soldiers and smashed enemy war mater."

ga, which lies 80 miles south of Luga and the same distance east of Pskov, was taken by the Red Army after two Soviet forces out of the town from east and the Soviet communiqué said.

her Russian force, fighting in the streets of the town, had to the Germans out of fortified houses and newly-built block houses.

the drive toward Pskov is not only a large number of German prisoners, Maj. Gen. Alexander Gvozdkov of the Leningrad staff told American correspondents in Leningrad.

ghter Base in Holland Is New Target
By E. B. SULLIVAN
London, Feb. 14.—(AP)—U. S. fighter bombers today attacked the German fighter base at Eindhoven in Holland today after German planes had scattered incendiaries in an attack today on London as made by "several German planes."

Nazi planes dived low under the barrage to lay incendiary on parts of London.

Berlin radio, eagerly seeking to save the bomb-battered city from the incendiary attack, declared London was being hit by "several incendiary bombs" on the city.

Air Power Strikes at German Installations Around Front And About Cassino as Lifting of Weather Permits 800 Sorties Sunday

IMPACT OF MASSIVE ASSAULT BELIEVED BLUNTED

By RICHARD McMURRAY
Associated Press War Editor

Britons made "successful local attacks" in the beach battle below Rome, where the reinforced Fifth Army has regained the initiative, and Americans advanced 200 yards in the house-by-house reduction of Cassino, Allied headquarters announced today.

Air power struck at German installations around the Anzio battlefield and about Cassino as lifting weather permitted 800 sorties Sunday. For the moment, at least, the impact of the massive German counter-attack had been blunted, but the Germans probably were reforming for an even more violent attempt to push the Allies into the sea.

The Germans bombed another hospital on the beach, causing casualties. More than 2,000 Nazis filled prison cages below Rome.

Headquarters declared the over-all situation "generally satisfactory." The British are at the western end of the beachhead. Nothing was said officially of the Americans around Cisterna.

The extent to which the tide of battle had swung in Allied favor was implicit in German utterances. Via Stockholm, the Nazis said a heavy Allied offensive is expected shortly in the intensifying battle. The report said the British had regained the initiative around Carroceto and that the Allies have a great advantage in material. Radio Rome said meekly that "the Germans are holding their own," although Vichy said the Allies had made gains.

The Germans placed the entire Mediterranean coast of France under strict military control and reported a large Allied convoy of six transports, 60 cargo vessels, four tankers and assorted warships steaming into the sea past Gibraltar.

Russian troops drove within 40 miles of Pskov, gateway to southern Estonia and Latvia, after clearing most of the east bank of Lake Peipus in a 41-mile advance which swept past Luga and 800 other towns.

Isolated Finland was said in an unconfirmed Swedish report to have established contact with Moscow, preliminary to suing for peace. Three Finnish officials were in Stockholm, possible site for a peace conference. The Finns reported quickened fighting on the Karelian isthmus above Leningrad.

Allied air fleets, including American Fortresses and Liberators, pounded the French invasion coast yesterday for the 41st time in 55 days, destroying seven German planes at the cost of four heavy bombers and two fighters.

Yugoslav Royalist parties were said by the exiled government to have met in the mountains and reaffirmed loyalty to King Peter, the monarch whom Marshal Tito, the Yugoslav leader, had deposed. The Royalists also demanded post-war expansion at the expense of Italy and Balkan countries. Tito said the Germans had opened a new offensive and was being aided by Gen. Mihailovic, Peter's minister of war.

Like rats leaving a sinking ship, two more Nazi agents quit the Turkish embassy and surrendered to the British.

Open skies and favorable flying weather did much to tip the scales in the Rome beach battle, about which Lt. Gen. Mark Clark and Prime Minister Churchill expressed confidence. Medium bombers struck north of the battle line and pounded the Bucine viaduct south of Florence. Only 30 German planes were seen in the air Sunday and four of these were destroyed.

Land in Forest and Warren Acquired For Flood Control
Pittsburgh, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker today signed a judgment giving the government the right to acquire 13,491.8 acres of land in Forest and Warren counties to be used in a contemplated flood control program.

The declaration of taking, which stated the land would be used for reforestation, forestation, to prevent soil erosion and to prevent forest fires, as a part of the flood control program, was signed by Grover B. Hill, acting secretary of agriculture.

Owners, who will retain all mineral rights, will be paid a total of $50,594.25 for the property, which is being seized under authority of the Weeks forestry law.

MacArthur Considered As a Potential Cabinet Member

By JACK BELL

Washington, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur may figure in this year's presidential campaign as a potential cabinet member or military advisor if his friends fail to convince the Republican convention it ought to draft him as a candidate.

There is a growing disposition among party leaders to concede that MacArthur, whose name has been entered in the Illinois preferential primary, will be a factor at the convention. But few go so far as Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) in believing that the southwest Pacific commander might be drafted for the nomination.

Vandenberg said he had received an "amazing" response in mail from all sections of the country to a recent magazine article in which he explained why he was for MacArthur for president.

One influential Republican, who is not supporting any candidate at this time, said a recent transcontinental trip convinced him there is a great deal of MacArthur sentiment among the voters.

While doubting that this would develop sufficiently for a successful draft movement, he said it was not at all unlikely that the party nominee, whoever he might be, might want to bring MacArthur's name into the campaign.

He might pose him as secretary of war—a post traditionally held by a civilian—as army chief of staff or as presidential military advisor in a capacity now filled by Admiral William D. Leahy.

Most leaders think he would accept a presidential nomination but are uncertain how he would react to any other proposal.

MacArthur supporters now are trying to find out if the general would take the vice presidential nomination if it were offered to him but admit the odds against MacArthur's agreeing to any such proposal are likely to be long.

Refunds Are Being Given to Large Number

Washington, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Having trouble with that income tax return? Cheer up—maybe you'll get a refund, as did thousands of individuals and corporations whose names were reported to congress today by the treasury department.

During the 12 months ended last June 30, almost $57,000,000 was returned to taxpayers for taxes erroneously collected. And that's only a drop in the bucket compared with what the department expects to have to refund this year and next year.

Estimated refunds for the current fiscal year are $386,170,000, while for 1945 they are expected to reach $781,620,000, the increase being due mainly to the larger number of taxpayers and the withholding provisions of the new tax law.

Hundreds of taxpayers in every state received refunds last year, so many, in fact, that the treasury's report to the house committee on expenditures in executive department's listed only those who received $500 or more.

The bulk of the refunds were for over-assessments of income taxes, with excise overcharges on distilled spirits, employment, estate and gift, and tobacco next in line.

FINNS SAID TO BE IN CONTACT WITH SOVIETS

Report That High Officials Of Helsinki and Moscow Have Met Is Unconfirmed

CONFER AT STOCKHOLM

By ROBERT STURDEVANT
Stockholm, Feb. 14.—(AP)—An expectancy of some concrete development in Finnish-Russian relations, perhaps within the next two or three days, was evident here today despite the lack of any official indication that Finland actually was seeking a way out of the war.

From Helsinki came a report that the Finnish capital was awaiting momentarily some definite governmental step toward peace as the Social Democratic party continued heavy pressure on the nation's leaders to seek terms.

Speculation that something may be afoot was given a fresh fillup yesterday by the arrival here by plane of Leo Ehrenrooth, Finnish minister of the interior. He had been preceded to Stockholm by the Juhani Paasikivi, who helped negotiate the peace treaty that ended the Finnish-Russian war of 1939-40, and Elias Erkko, former Finnish foreign minister.

Ehrenrooth ostensibly came here on a mission in connection with the evacuation to Sweden of Finnish children living in areas which might be subject to Russian bombing. As a cabinet member, however, he conceivably could play an important part in any peace talks.

There were indications, meanwhile, that Finland probably was feeling her way cautiously for fear that any move to get out of the war might result in German reprisals. This was reflected in a dispatch from Helsinki quoting a conservative member of the Finnish parliament as saying in an interview:

"We must see the situation only from the point of view of what is best for our own country. No one here wants to share Italy's fate."

It is known here that there is considerable anxiety in Helsinki that Finland might become "another Italy," particularly in view (Turn to Page Seven)

Draft Boards Must Cancel Farm Deferments War Officials Warn

MOBILE FORCE PLANNED

Chicago, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Draft boards must cancel farm deferments unless the registrant "is in fact irreparable," the War Food Administration is planning an emergency labor force, and civilians are in for a drastic cut in canned fruits and vegetables, the food processors conference was told today by government officials.

Col. Francis V. Kessling, chief liaison and legislative officer of selective service, in a speech prepared for delivery to the congressional committee on agriculture, said, "local boards must re-appraise the situation and combat over these occupational deferments x x x in the light of the present circumstances, namely, whether the farm registrant is in fact necessary to the farm, regularly engaged in farming, and is in fact irreparable."

In another address prepared for delivery, Col. Philip G. Bruton, director of labor for the War Food Administration, told the conference that the WFA was planning a "mobile task force of 125,000 able-bodied, experienced interstate and foreign workers. Thus workers will be shifted from area to area of critical need as required to assist local labor forces in the production and harvesting of essential food and fiber. As emergency crop harvesters they will not remain permanently in any community."

In an address to the conference last night, C. W. Kitchen, deputy director of the Office of Distribution of the WFA said civilians are facing a 43 per cent cut in canned fruits and a 19 per cent cut in canned vegetables during the (Turn to Page Seven)

160,000 Tons Coal Mined On Sunday

Wilkes-Barre, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The anthracite starved northeast and middle Atlantic states shed an extra 160,000 tons of hard coal on the stockpile today.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines estimated that that amount was produced yesterday, second of four February Sundays the miners were asked to work to ease the shortage.

Only 135,000 tons was produced last Sunday, when less than 80 per cent of the industry's total working force reported for duty. Ninety per cent worked yesterday, the bureau said.

Their work was spurred by the winter's heaviest snowfall and a report from Secretary Ickes, sponsor of the Sunday work plan, who reiterated that the shortage cannot be relieved without seven-day-a-week operations.

Sales reported today totaled $7,200,000 for the area, with Allegheny county contributing $6,400,000 and the 18 other counties $800,000. The day's "E" bond sales, 000,

Business Index Up To New High Level

Pittsburgh, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The business index in the Pittsburgh district, which slumped badly in December, climbed to new high levels in late January, the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Pittsburgh reported today.

The January index stood at 171.5 per cent of the 1935-39 average, two points higher than December and two points above the January, 1943, average. Bituminous coal production rose sharply after the holidays.

Comedian To Surrender To U. S. Marshal

Charlie Chaplin to be Fingerprinted and Booked on Conspiracy Charge

SIX OTHERS INVOLVED

Los Angeles, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Charlie Chaplin, who once shuffled along the hearts of moviegoers on flapping feet and springy cane, is scheduled to surrender to the United States marshal today to be fingerprinted and booked on Mann act and conspiracy charges.

The comedian's attorney, Jerry Giesler, announced that Chaplin would appear in response to the indictments voted last week by the Federal Grand Jury which investigated complaints of Joan Berry, 24, who accuses him of fathering her 4-month-old daughter.

Also expected to surrender were several of the six other defendants accused with the 54-year-old actor of conspiring to deprive the young film soprano of her constitutional rights after her arrest on a vagrancy charge in nearby Beverly Hills a year ago last month.

It is alleged that she was intimidated into leaving California through suspension of a police court sentence.

The Mann Act allegations—not connected with the asserted conspiracy—contend that Chaplin transported Miss Berry to New York in October, 1942, with intent to have her "engage in illicit sex relations with him," and that he later returned her here.

Co-defendants with Chaplin in the conspiracy indictments are City Judge Charles Griffin of Beverly Hills; Capt. W. W. White, Lt. Claude Marple and Matron Jessie Billie Reno, of the Beverly Hills police department; Robert Arden, radio commentator, and Thomas Wells Durant, at various times an employee of film studios.

Expect Adoption of Bill to Aid Allies

Washington, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Final congressional approval this week of legislation authorizing American expenditures up to $1,350,000,000 to support the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration was forecast today.

With Republicans voicing their support, the foreign relations committee met today to vote on a bill previously voted 338 to 54 by the house. Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) predicted the house measure would be endorsed without change.

Similar quick approval this week was predicted for legislation ending the administration's food price subsidy program, but renewing the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation until June 30, 1945.

With President Roosevelt expected to veto the legislation, which he regards as a threat to the economic stabilization program, there was some talk of passing a separate bill to extend the CCC, now due to expire Thursday unless renewed before then. Both sides in the subsidy battle favor continuing the CCC.

Still to be settled is the controversy over absentee ballots for servicemen.

A light machine gunner, he was shot through the head as he ran into a crossfire between U. S. Marines and Japanese snipers, and died aboard a hospital ship.

OFFENSIVE TO AID PACIFIC WAR MAPPED

Lt. Gen. Stilwell Says New Offensive Will Spring From Land-Locked Mainland

RABAU ROCKED AGAIN

By MORRIS LANDSBERG
Associated Press War Editor

The Japanese soon will have to deal with a promised new offensive springing from the land-locked mainland of free China while fighting to retain bomb-shattered bases along their southern defense line in the Pacific.

That was made forcefully plain today by the words of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, commander-in-chief of U. S. forces in China, Burma and India, and by the bombs of Allied planes hurtling down on key Japanese positions in the southwest Pacific.

Stillwell, in a statement issued at Chungking yesterday, pledged an aggressive land and air campaign from the interior of China in anticipation of the sweeping drive across the Pacific projected by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Pacific fleet.

American fliers, meanwhile, smashed at Japanese positions near Hong Kong and probably sank three enemy vessels, including a 5,800-ton merchant ship, off the China coast. U. S. bomber attacks in Burma also reflected the push up in the southeast Asia air war preliminary to the push.

Two more heavy raids rocked Rabaul, New Britain, determined Japanese base which once was the pivot of the enemy's encroachment in the southwest Pacific. The Nipponese lost a total of probably 51 planes.

The Solomon-based planes of Admiral William F. Halsey's forces unloaded another 134 tons of explosives the following day in the 12th raid in 14 days on the vulnerable base at the northeast tip of New Britain. Three enemy planes were bagged in this attack.

Allied raiders had no interceptors to contend with in a 167-ton bombing strike at Kavieng, New Ireland Friday, but 10 Japanese planes were destroyed on the ground. Other air assaults hit the enemy from Celebes far to the northwest, to the Solomons where light naval units joined in pounding Japanese shore targets on Bougainville.

Continuation of the central Pacific offensive was indicated by a Tokyo broadcast which said two formations of American B-25 bombers attacked Japanese-held Wotje and Tarao islands in the Marshalls yesterday. There was no Allied confirmation.

Fort Pitt Area Lags Behind Fourth Loan Bond Drive Quota

"The 19-county Ft. Pitt area never has failed to meet its quota and cannot afford to now," declared Robert H. McClintic, state vice chairman of the War Finance Committee.

Sales reported today totaled $7,200,000 for the area, with Allegheny county contributing $6,400,000 and the 18 other counties $800,000. The day's "E" bond sales, 000,

Banquet Was Happy Event; Many Present

About 170 men and boys of Grace Methodist church attended the annual father and son banquet sponsored by the McCurdy Men's Class and held in the church dining room on Friday evening. Dorcas Society members were in charge of serving the fine dinner.

In turn these questions were satisfied and explained with a number of quotations and poems.

Dr. Barr dismissed the gathering with the benediction.

Members of the troop committee, Mrs. Sheridan Brown, Mrs. Floyd Rapp, Mrs. Cecil Henderson and Mrs. Ethel Callard, were introduced by Miss Knudsgaard.

Mrs. C. Vance Weld, commissioner, addressed the group briefly and refreshments were served by the girls.

There was a large percentage of fathers and a check-up which is thought to be quite complete shows that among the group there were 195 children who called men of the group "daddy".

D., executive secretary of the North Dakota Baptist State Convention, will be guest speaker this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church, when Calvary Baptist congregation will join in a "World Parish Day" assembly to hear highlights of the Northern Baptist convention.

SIXTEEN GET APPOINTMENTS
Of the 41 girls from Warren and Youngsville who took the Civil Service examinations at the Manpower Commission offices last week all the number passed with flying colors. Sixteen of the number decided to accept posts in the nation's capital and will leave after graduation this spring having been given their appointments. Others will go from time to time.

MADE A RECORD
Warren county Salvage operations have attracted wide attention and a recent bulletin issued by Colley Baker, of the State Committee, was devoted in its entirety to the work being done in this county. Inasmuch as the bulletin has a circulation of over 8000 throughout the state this county is receiving some fine advertising. In addition to all of the other materials salvaged it is interesting to note that over 300 deer hides were shipped out to be made into vests for sailors of the United States forces.

SEEKING EMPLOYEES
Tomorrow evening between the hours of 7 and 9 representatives of the National Forge and Ordnance Company will be at the office of the Manpower Commission 225 Pennsylvania avenue west. They will interview both men and women for work in the Irvine plant. This plant has been hit hard by the draft and there is dire need of both male and female employees. It is to be hoped, says Manager Levine, that there is a good response to the appeal to keep the essential war industries moving to back up the men at the front.

WINS FINE AWARD
Warren Lodge No. 109 Loyal Order of Moose has received a handsome bulletin board from the Grand Lodge as an award for securing a large class of members to the local lodge. The board will contain the names of the members of the local lodge who are in the U. S. Service. The lodge had an honor roll but the number of names of men in service has exceeded the space on the board and provision had to be made whereby a larger board could be secured.

Relief From Zero Weather Is Not in Sight

From all indications the weather man is doing his best to make out the old groundhog a 100% weather forecaster as since the day the old boy saw his shadow winter has been on the upswing. Zero has been the goal of the mercury in the thermometers and seemingly the zero mark it can't get far away.

Sunday morning it was one below on the official thermometer and this morning it was four below and this morning it was four above. Reports are that the mercury will rise slightly today but it promises to skid right back down again tomorrow. Just when and permanent relief is scheduled the weatherman saith not and the gloom and coal men chuckle with glee while the wood salesmen join in with a chuckle or two.

The highway department has done a fine job in keeping the roads of the vicinity open and their big trucks with snow plows bucking off drifts that have formed as a result of the stiff winds. Cinder crews have also been busy as the roads are about as safe as human ingenuity can make them.

Several of the township road crews have also been at work with plows and all in all the roads are in good shape throughout the whole county.

Kinzuaites Hopeful For Natural Gas

Folk of Kinzua, who last Christmas cooked their turkeys over a "slow fire" and who through the winter have shivered and shook with the cold are now hopeful that before long there will be a better supply of gas. The residents of Kinzua aver that in former years they had plenty of gas and that last fall the compressor at the plant broke down and hasn't been fixed yet took the bit in their teeth recently and appealed to the Public Utility Commission at Harrisburg for relief from the poor service.

During the past week Inspector Lucas, of the PUC spent some time in Kinzua and made a study of the situation there. One result of his visit has been fitful increases in the gas pressure. Residents of the village are now awaiting some order from Harrisburg which will assure them an increased and adequate supply of gas.

The fuel is furnished to the village by the Allegheny Gas Company which has been in new ownership during the past few years.

Enthusiastic Bond Buyers Pack Library for Premiere

A capacity audience attended Warner Brother's War Bond premiere showing of "Desert Song" last Friday evening. Despite the weather, hundreds of enthusiastic bond buyers claimed every seat in the Library theatre to enjoy one of the season's most thrilling entertainments. Filmed in dazzling Technicolor, and featuring Dennis Morgan, this film version of the musical that once set records on Broadway, lost nothing in coming to the screen. A thrilling plot, gorgeous sets, and immortal music supplied a sure-fire combination of first-class entertainment. The premiere showing in Warren is but one of hundreds of similar premieres being held throughout the country, and constitutes a major contribution to the success of the 4th War Loan by the motion picture industry. Contributing to the success of the local premiere, were George Sarvis, Warner Brothers Library Theatre manager, the local bond issuing agents who cooperated in distribution of the tickets, and the American Legion who supplied the ushers.

Gasoline Thief Caught After Daring Holdup

Warren Police Friday night received a call that some person was on his way to this city after having secured gasoline at a service station west of Corry and then pulled a gun on the attendant and drove away. The local police blocked every road into the city, but the fellow had evidently passed through Warren before the call was received.

He was later arrested at Kane when he drove up to a service station there. It was thought he was going to try the same thing there that he tried at the other station although when searched he had no gun only a big knife. He was identified as Walter Vandant, 23, who gave his home address to Kane police as New Haven, Conn. It was later learned by State Police that the fellow's real name is Warren James Van Zandt, of Mill Valley, Calif. He had been discharged from the navy as an undesirable last November.

Health Week Closes With A Jamboree

The YMCA "Week of Health" came to an end on Saturday evening with a jamboree. Due to the weather a small crowd put in their appearance. The program consisted of moving pictures on Posture, followed by a talk on the same subject by Chester R. Seymour, Warren County Boy Scout Executive. Mr. Seymour gave a very enlightening and instructive talk, taking subjects from the audience to demonstrate his points. This was followed by the presentation of the award for the best posture on Posture and went to Neil DeStefano. DeStefano also won the award last year and has much promise of becoming an excellent artist should he follow through in this line. The program wound up with another picture, one on Ice Hockey, which the group enjoyed very much.

Following this those who cared to adjourn to the gym to witness the O'Connor Baker basketball game.

Charles Koebly, secretary of the Physical Education committee, acted as chairman and also presented Mr. Seymour to the group. The committee felt that the project was one of considerable worth and if things turn out well hope to continue the affair next year.

Woman Loses Large Sum to Purse Grabber

One of the most daring hold-ups reported to the Warren Police came on Saturday night when Bertha Wagner, 24 Walnut street, reported that while on her way home she was robbed of $207. The woman stated to police that she was walking westward on Pennsylvania avenue when some man about 5 feet 8 inches in height grabbed her from the back and threw her down. He grabbed her purse and ran away. Making her way to the nearest telephone she notified police. They at once spread a dragnet over the district but failed to locate any person.

Later at night a billfold was found in the washroom of a local hotel which was identified as the one owned by Bertha Wagner and which had been in her larger purse. The billfold was empty.

Police are working on the case and have several good clues and it is anticipated that an arrest will soon be made.

BAGGED MANY FOXES

Clyde Hanson, of Page Hollow is one of the most successful trappers of foxes in the county this winter. He has already trapped 22 of the animals and the pelts are particularly fine. The furs this winter are bringing high prices due to the fact that few are being imported and many hunters in Canada are in the war.

SEEDS ON DISPLAY

While old Brer Groundhog has promised six weeks of winter which prophecy seems to be 100 per cent good. Merchants of the city are beginning to make displays of garden seeds. In many of the stores large displays are to be found and "in a short time cold bed" will be in operation growing plants for transplanting.

TWO FIRE ALARMS

Friday and Saturday evening two fire alarms were sounded. The first was on Laurel street where a chimney fire was extinguished and the Saturday alarm sent the firemen to the United Refinery. A still had flared and was burning briskly on top and in a pile of coal in front of it. The firemen laid in a line and stood by while the trained crew of the refinery extinguished the blaze.

MAKING ALTERATIONS

Workmen are engaged in making some extensive alterations on the Segel building on Pennsylvania avenue, west. The building is occupied by the Charles Hills store. In the basement the old wooden floor has been torn out and a concrete floor will be laid. On the upper floors two apartments will be made on each floor. They will be modern in every way and the improvements will cost about $2500 according to the building permit issued at the City Building.

WORK UNDER WAY

Work of razing the buildings on the Wallace property on Second avenue preparatory to erecting the new addition to the Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., was started this morning. Laborers, who were assured through the Federal Employment office reported on the job. The work will be carried forward with all speed and as soon as the Wallace buildings are down the Miller property will also be torn down. The contractor has but 90 days to erect the new one story building of 20,000 square feet of floor space from the time work begins and much speed will be necessary.

EIGHT ENJOY HIKE

Winter at its best; that was the verdict of the eight hikers who enjoyed the snow in the woods, and the cold but clear wintry afternoon on yesterday's Allegheny Hiking Club journey. The party drove to the place on Route 62 where seven miles from Warren, where Charles Reed, enters the Allegheny river. From there they walked east up the valley of this run nearly to its headwaters, turning south and over the divide into the valley of the north branch of Hedgehog Run, then going west down this valley to the highway and thence to the starting point, and walking nearly six miles. This trip was led by Paul Coe, accompanied by Michael D'Angelo, Sam Lannen, R. W. Mackay, Mary Maniakas, Jean Petersen, Catherine Reed, and Isaac Reed.

Chapter 13
THERE that looks like enough food for an army! Kay sang out as she put in the last sandwich and covered the wicker basket with a red-checked cloth. Julie was pouring coffee into a thermos. "I decided to show the works on our last pound of coffee," she told Kay. "But this is a special occasion, don't you think?" "You bet it is," Kay cried. She sneaked a look at Julie working eagerly, if a little awkwardly at the unfamiliar tasks. Julie tightened the top on the thermos and putting it beside the basket, went out on the balcony to breathe deeply of the sweet-scented air. "It's a glorious day!" she called back to Kay. Squinting her eyes against the brilliance of the noonday sun, she looked over the valley dotted with its trim, white California bungalows and modern apartments set in smooth green lawns. Joy tingled through her. Her mind turned instinctively back to the last time she had felt this sudden buoyancy, this insatiable thirst for living. It was that day at home when she had first heard that David was coming. "All set?" Kay called from the bedroom. "You know Jack. He'll be here on the stroke of twelve." Julie turned and came back into the living room. She was just taking her polo coat from the closet when she heard the automobile horn. "Jeepers!" he said, "you two really look like something out of a fashion magazine." Kay laughed as she looked down at her new Kelly green slacks suit and brown wedgies. "So you like our new slacks suits? I won't tell you what they cost! It might spoil it." "I'm not in the least interested in what your clothes cost—yet—but just wait 'til I'm the boss," Jack winked. Jack pulled away from the curb and down Camillo Street toward the valley highway. Then over the pass, down Hollywood Boulevard. He had turned south on Supulveda headed for Brady Field when Julie stopped her light chatter and looked seriously toward Kay. Her fingers were running restlessly up and down the sharp crease in her new slacks. "I've been thinking," she said slowly, "Dave thinks I'm already in the studio. I didn't say anything about my job at Empire and for the present I think he'd better keep right on thinking the way he does." "As a glamour girl, eh?" said Kay slowly. "Not that so much," Julie stammered, "but—well, if he thought I was in a factory, he'd fret about it—and when it's only temporary—" "It's okay by me," Kay smiled. "We'll keep your secret as long as you say." David was standing by the gate as they drove up. Julie felt her heart quicken as she got in and she made brief introductions. "I think this is grand of you all," he said, "it's really a treat to get out like this for a day." THEY talked and laughed as the little car wove through the Sunday traffic and finally went down the steep ramp in Santa Monica to the highway that skirted the rim of the ocean. Jack turned sharply up the winding canyon road and came out on the very top of the high knoll overlooking the beach. The cars from this height looked like toys as they spun along the highway and little dots of people on the beach no larger than ants. The padlock on the cabin door was brown with rust. Jack flung open the door and they lugged their things inside. It was a one room affair with two sets of double-decked bunks and a large stone fireplace that covered one end of the place. The afternoon hours melted away. The four of them tramped miles up and down the steep sloping shoulders of the canyon, through patches of weeds that reached to their waists. They finally emerged from the lengthening shadows of a deep ravine to the crest where they sat watching the blazing ball of orange sun sink into late-colored sea. Then they went back to the cabin, cooked their steaks and ate them hungrily before a crackling fire. It was dark outside and the dancing light from the fire threw eerie shadows that moved restlessly up and down the walls. "Let's take one last look at the ocean," Jack said to Kay. THE two of them went outside. Julie shut the door behind them. David lighted his pipe and let the smoke curl slowly from his lips. "You're enjoying your work?" "Yes," Julie said. She was stretched in a low chair in dreamy happiness. "I have a lot to learn but I think I'm going to like it." "Funny how things work out," David muttered. "Just a little while ago I was back home in Danforth's Drug Store and now I've been fighting halfway around the globe. You were the bell of a small town, now you're in the movies." Julie said slowly, "Don't you often wish we could go back to those peaceful days?" "No," Dave said steadily, "but I hope they'll come again." Through half-closed lids, Julie studied his serious rugged profile, with the unruly lock of hair she loved. She thought passionately. Can't he feel how complete this is—the two of us together with the world shut out? "And what will you be doing then, Dave?" The question broke into his thoughts. He frowned slightly and shrugged. "Oh—flying, I suppose. Maybe I'll get a run on an airline." She whispered, watching him warily. "And I wonder where I'll be?" He had laid down his pipe to stir the fire. He turned back to give her a quick smiling scrutiny. Abruptly he lifted her hand and held it against his lips. The movement was quick, unpremeditated, exciting. He said in a rough, low voice. "You'll be in New York—or Hollywood, a famous person, Julie." At that minute Jack and Kay opened the door and came in. To be continued

SPLITTING PLASMA IN FRACTIONS

According to Howard W. Blakeslee, Associated Press Science editor, the Red Cross blood plasma, which has been the foremost lifesaver of American wounded, has been split into a number of fractions each of which is as miraculous as plasma.

These fractions, and their production for the armed forces on a big scale, most of them military secrets until now, were described to the New York section of the American Chemical Society last week by Dr. Edwin J. Cohn, of Harvard University.

One fraction, albumin, does all the work of plasma and only one fifth the volume is required.

A second, of the globulins which protect man from many diseases, is the best preventive and treatment for measles yet found and is in large-scale production for the armed forces.

A third, made of two of the blood's clotting elements, is a new plastic, which looks like a cross between nylon and rubber, and is in use in surgery where sheets of it have been substituted for lost layers of lining over the brain.

Two others are new substances that quickly stop bleeding in wounds.

A sixth is the isohemagglutinins which define the different types of blood, and is in use in military typing. While we are on the subject of plasma may we remind the 200-odd donors listed for tomorrow to be sure and be on hand on schedule.

SLIGHT DIFFERENCE

There is, it seems, a small but vocal group in this country agitating for an early end of the war, and a negotiated peace. From England, too, have come some recent demands for a quick cessation of hostilities—without the negotiated peace. They were expressed by Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery.

"This war began a long while ago," he said to troops preparing for the invasion. "I am getting fed up with the thing. I think it nearly time we finished it."

We feel pretty sure that the majority of Americans incline toward General Montgomery's way of thinking.

BREAK FOR THE PUBLIC

The most famous and most stubborn holdout in radio history has come to an end with the announcement that the matchless violinist, Fritz Kreisler, will make five broadcasts next summer.

That announcement would be a break for the public at any time, but it is especially welcome at this time of difficult travel and curtailed concert tours. It also renews one's faith that, in spite of about 90 per cent of the entertainment offered, radio is still a great invention.

News from the Italian beachhead below Rome confirms the fact that this war is grim and the unexpected has a way of happening, despite the best of planning. Tough days are ahead, but a break in the weather has helped to unleash our air power helping the situation considerably. There's better news today from the furious battle of the Anzio-Nettuna beachhead below Rome as a reward for those whose faith stood up during the trying days of last week.

Speaking of the zero weather we've been having the past few days it may not sound reasonable at first thought, but one of the coldest spots in the world is only ten miles from the equator. The spot is ten miles up in the icy air above the island of Java, where a temperature of 133 degrees below zero has been registered.

Here's a thought for Warren housewives to remember: Although the new plan of giving points for waste kitchen fats has doubled the rate of collection, it is still below the minimum estimated needs for the year. Don't waste kitchen fats.

The six-inch snowfall last weekend was thoroughly enjoyed by the younger folks of Warren, even if they didn't seem interested in helping dad remove it from the sidewalks.

Ask any Warren mail carrier and he'll tell you that Valentine's day this year was just as generally observed as any time before the war. Some of them sure were loaded down.

Plenty of Warren wives are sweeping the house with a glance—and going to their war jobs.

"Your Child, I Think"

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Well, it's happened again. The capital of the United States is changing "mayors" or, perhaps, I should say "co-mayors." Sen. Pat McCarran, of Nevada, is quitting his job as chairman of the Senate district committee to take over the chairmanship of the Senate Judiciary committee, vacated by the death of Sen. Frederick Van Nuys.

This is, of course, in line with the Congressional policy of no member ever holding chairmanships of two committees. The members of both chambers hasten to throw off the burden of helping to manage the national capital. I'm waiting for the day when some Senator says he can't take the District committee chairmanship because he's chairman of the library committee, or some House member turns it down for chairmanship of the committee on disposition of executive papers.

The point is that there are no votes in the District of Columbia, and no member of Congress can win an iota of polling day by citing his record as chairman of the district committee. Don't blame the members of Congress. The fault is the voting public, which apparently doesn't give even one of those two whoops how its capital is run.

AS A result of a few disinterested members succeed to the job because they have nothing better to do and except for a few half-hearted gestures are willing to let the three presidentially-appointed commissioners go on mismanaging district affairs. It has been going on now for 70 or 80 years, as a result of which Washington is a beautiful example of how a city should not be run.

The next "mayor" on the Senate side probably will be Sen. Theodore G. "That Man" Bilbo, of Mississippi, but don't expect him to show any of his old Mississippi zip in straightening out the district's tangled affairs. Unless he gets stuck with the job he won't stick around any longer than McCarran did, or Sen. Robert R. Reynolds (now chairman of the military affairs committee), or Sen. William H. King before him, to mention only the last three-year crop.

On the other hand, a lot should be said for Rep. Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia. In spite of the fact that he serves on four other important committees, he has strung along with his chairmanship of the House district committee for four years.

OF THE Washington stories I have heard lately, I like the one about the dashing young capitalist widow who was stopped by a Cabinet member in the crush of a wartime tea.

"Well," said the C.M., "I see you have been getting plenty of diplomatic attention."

"What do you mean?" asked the young lady.

"Every time I have seen you this afternoon, you have been talking to six ambassadors and two ministers," he explained.

The young woman looked honestly puzzled. "Six ambassadors and two ministers. I don't remember them. Who were they?"

"Tony Biddle," said the C.M., and walked off snickering at his own wit, because Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, U. S. representative to most of the governments in exile, is just exactly that.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Lloyd Bacon is an old-time director who dresses flashy, works hard, and makes pictures that invariably pull in droves of paying customers. His latest, "The Sullivans," should be no exception.

Bacon, son of the stage's famed Frank ("Lightnin'") Bacon, specializing in westerns, called the "old hoke." He himself would be the last to deny this, inasmuch as "the old hoke" is frequently a term applied to a film's emphasis on human values. Family life, love of children, love of animals, courage, young love, devotion to friends all make for "the old hoke" and, of course, for some of the finer aspects of life.

"THE SULLIVANS," based on the story of the Iowa family which lost five sons in the sinking of the cruiser Jeanne in the South Pacific, is Bacon's master work. It tells a true story of family life as lived by the plain, hard-working American father and mother and their children, from the father's infancy to adulthood and the crushing blow met by the survivors with simple faith and courage. Americans everywhere, especially those of average families, will recognize it. It's a story of a family that shares a little in the ultimate heartbreak and take, perhaps, some inspiration to meet their own war troubles.

"The Sullivans," though it dramatizes a war-famous family, belongs in the growing cycle of films which emphasize the American way of life on the home front. It has one terrific sequence of war at sea, but is not in the usual sense a war picture. Last year's "The Human Comedy," without a battle scene, focused its camera on small-town life and familiar, nostalgia-evoking scenes, and indirectly set a pattern.

THERE has always been movie gold in the hills of home, but war seems to have been a light to reveal anew its steady, dependable luster. "Happy Land" and the newer "Back Home in Indiana" are manifestations of the trend toward home, and "Since You Went Away," amplified from Margaret Bull's slender volume of letters to her soldier, is shaping up as a "big" picture of the home front.

Robert Webb, unit manager on "Wilson" and long an assistant director, was rejoicing the other day that his assignment as a full-fledged director will be "Home of the Brave" — simple tale of family life in wartime, without war scenes.

For war pictures, tied to swiftly moving events, must ever be something of a gamble. The American family, Hollywood seems confident, is a sure thing.

CONEWAGO CLUB

A three-way tie exists for the first slot of the Conewago Club league, as a result of the four-point victory Friday night when the Culbertson-Plummed combine hacked out a clean sweep over the MacDonalds.

The charges of Lynn Branch and Charlie Pettibone's Mail Order Boys, the other two teams in first place, will indulge in a battle of Titans next Friday night, while the Culbertsons tackle Ray Reed's up-and-coming Boilermakers Wednesday evening. Tonight the McClures and the Creals battle for first division, while tomorrow night finds the MacDonalds after their first second-half win against the first-half champions, Trevenen's Little Giants.

Gel Howell, Bill Lutz and Dr. Anderson led the Culbertsons in the Friday night win, with each scoring a 200 game and being well up in the 500 bracket. Only Captain MacDonald could find the pocket for the cellarites with a 204 first game and a 512 total. Culbertsons... 886 863 841—2596 MacDonalds... 848 809 732—2389

Here's why you are asked to CONSERVE GAS

5 WAYS TO SAVE IN THE USE OF GAS

Plants engaged in war work throughout the Appalachian Area are using great quantities of gas to speed up production. This fact plus the increased demands made on reserves during the present winter weather have caused the War Production Board to call for more conservative use of gas, by domestic consumers. In cooperation with the War Production Board, we are asking you to observe the 5 ways to save gas, listed at the right. We are doing everything we possibly can to see that no home goes without gas for essential cooking, water heating, refrigeration or space heating. You can do your part to help us (and Uncle Sam) by observing the suggestions here given. Thank you.

1. Refrain from using the gas oven or auxiliary heaters for space heating.
2. Heat only rooms which are in daily use.
3. Winterize your home now by insulating and weather-stripping. It not only keeps your home warmer in winter but cooler in summer.
4. Cook whole meals in oven. Cook "one-dish" meals on top burners.
5. Don't use running hot water for washing dishes or hands. Repair leaky faucets.
